KKK threatens to destroy the Review

The Lemon Grove Review is under attack by a person or small group which refers to itself as the KKK of Lemon Grove. It began in early September, when the Review received a letter from the "Exalted Cyclops," the title used by the head of a local KKK chapter or "klavern." It seems that the Klan wished to "form a loose association" with the Review to publish their hateful messages.

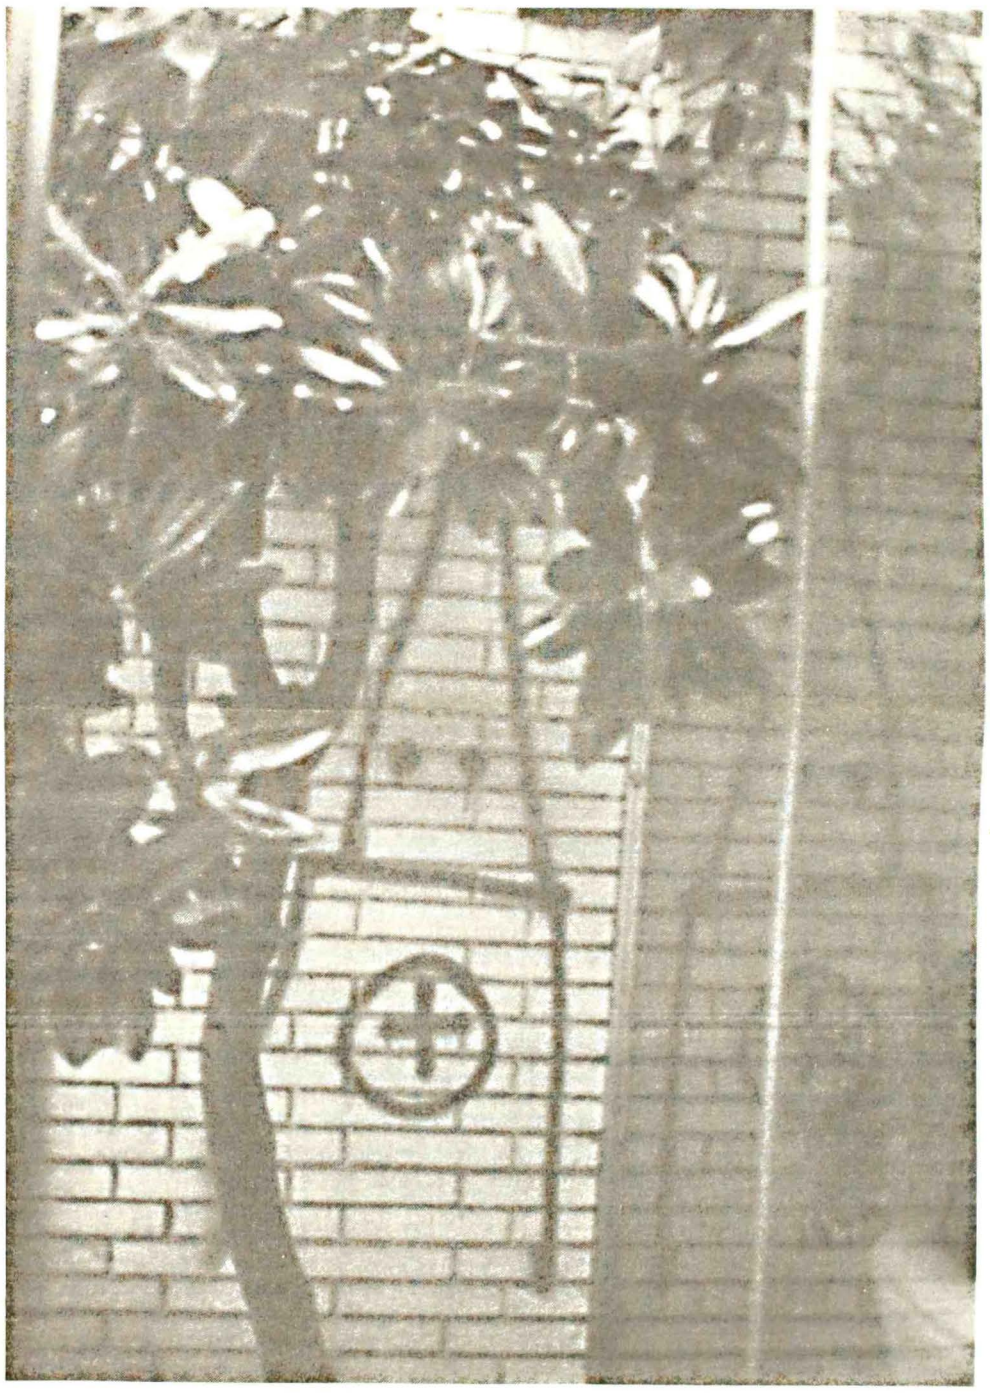
The Review ignored the first letter as the work of some "KK Kook," but more followed, criticizing us for being too soft against pornography and all minorities. Efforts made to convince us to publish the first letter included a fake letter from the Beth Jacob Synagogue telling us to appease this group before they do more harm and submitting the name of Eugene Storck as the writer of the letter, since they had noted our policy that all letters must be signed.

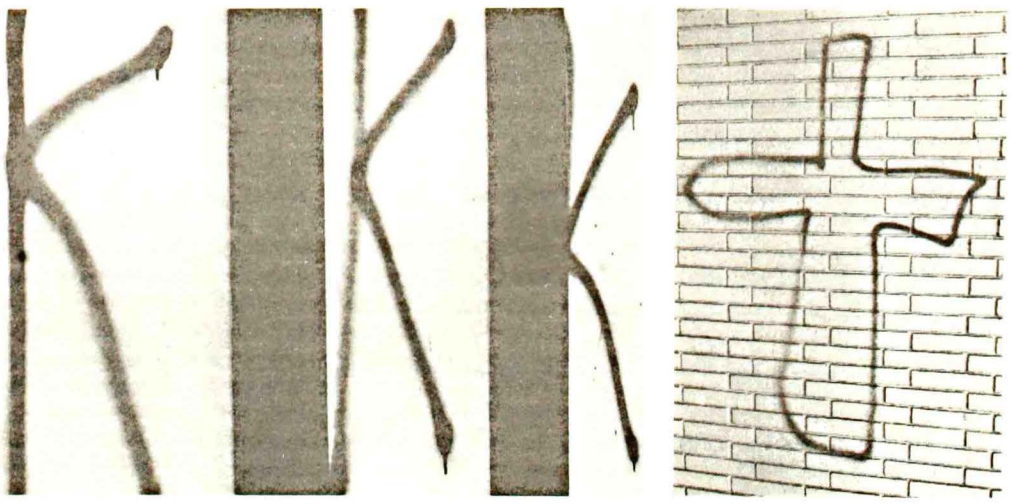
The letter from "Storck," a name we could not verify in the phone book, stated that this "was the last friendly letter" that we would be receiving.

About a week later, under the cloak of darkness, a rock was thrown through the plate glass window of the law offices of Barwick, Rutherford & Scott at 3434 Grove Street, where the Review had maintained an office until about 10 months ago. Along with the rock came Klan graffiti on the building and an edict stating that the Klan had found the Review guilty of not printing its letter to the community of Lemon Grove and other charges, and condemning the Review to "destruction."

Other instances which probably involved this same small group of misguided individuals include hate messages left on former mayor Jim Dorman's answering machine last spring and recent threats to Lamplighters Theatre in La Mesa for staging a play about marriage between a Jew and a Gentile.

The Review will not be terrorized into publishing the hate messages of this cowardly group. We urge all community members to report any similar activities, and we are offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction on hate crime charges of these heinous individuals.





The individuals who attacked the Review with a rock through the window of our former offices in the law firm of Barwick, Rutherford & Scott at 3434 Grove Street also left the above Klan graffiti on the building. The Review urges anyone with knowledge about the attack to come forward.

Curfew sweeps attempt to curtail graffiti, crime

by Lindy Magner

After 11 p.m. last Friday night, about six Sheriff's Department patrol cars began looping through the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area, looking for juveniles violating the 10 p.m. curfew.

According to Sgt. Gloria Rundle of the Sheriff's Juvenile intervention/investigations unit, this curfew sweep was requested by the recently-formed Lemon Grove graffiti task force, and will be repeated again before the end of the month. The sweep netted 12 youths who were taken to the Lemon Grove substation for pick-up by their parents.

"We do these from time to time throughout the county when we have the manpower," she said, explaining that a sweep had been planned last summer for the area, but was cancelled due to a shortage of deputies.

"We had a two-page list of hot spots - places kids hang out such as 7-Elevens, video stores and open area hangouts," she added, noting that most individuals encountered were over 18.

"Most kids know there's a curfew; information is distributed through the schools and through word-of-mouth," she said, explaining that violating a curfew is a "status offense" and will not result in a Juvenile Hall sentence.

For a first-time offender, a diversion contract agreeing to hours of community service is signed by the juvenile.

The second such offense is referred to Juvenile Court and can result in fines up to $135, and required attendance of a "curfew education" class.

Curfew sweeps were one of a list of recommendations the Lemon Grove graffiti task force provided to the city as a way of combatting the vandalism businesses along Broadway have been suffering. According to Rundle, the Sheriff's Department decided to include Spring Valley, Rancho San Diego and Mt. Helix to facilitate a steady flow of patrol cars.

"If we limited it to Lemon Grove, we would have been running into each other," she said.

Packets of information on crime in the area with juvenile victims and perpetrators were given to parents as they picked up their curfew violators.

"Some of these parents didn't even know their child was out," Rundle said.

Obituary

Ruby K. Goodwin

Longume Lemon Grove resident Ruby Kathleen Goodwin, died at her home in her sleep Nov. 10.

She operated an antique shop on Broadway for the past 20 years. She was the wife of Max Goodwin, former owner of the Lemon Grove Review. She was a member of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

She is survived by her husband; two children, Danny Goodwin and Lisa Bebi; two grandchildren, Jamie and Brooke.

Services will be held today, 1 p.m., at the Lemon Grove United Methodist Church.

Womack celebrates 100th birthday at Senior Center

Lucy Womack celebrated her 100th birthday last Thursday at the Lemon Grove Senior Center. Entertainment for the celebration was provided by Marge Samuel's Happy Hoofer Dance Troupe which performed numbers including "Top Hat" which won them 1st place in the San Diego Senior Talent Contest last March.

Womack's former daughter-in-law, Betty Womack Halvin and Lloyd Halvin danced for Lucy to a waltz medley.

A Lemon Grove resident for the past 50 years, Womack hails from true pioneer stock.

Born Lucy Mackey in 1892 in what was then the Oklahoma Territory, she was three months old when her family journeyed to California in a covered wagon. When Lucy was four years old, her parents moved from Pasadena to Imperial Valley.

In 1920, she married William Ernest Womack. The couple had four children - Gordon, William, Carrita and Jim. Lucy served on the Seeley School Board of Education and raised her family.

In 1942, the family came to Lemon Grove. Lucy has participated in activities at the Lemon Grove Senior Citizens Center since it first opened in 1974.

Out of eight brothers and two sisters she has only one younger sister living. She atttributes her long life and good health to doing for herself, and not letting aches and pains get her down.

When she was in for a check-up, the doctor asked what she ate. She quipped, "anything you fix, doc!"

She enjoys going out to lunch and with the help of her cane, and a loving arm, walks into the restaurant and back out to the car on her own.

Womack loves to go shopping and with a shopping cart, really travels down the aisles. She loves Christmas and enjoys buying presents for all her family. Children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren are all included in her giving. She made quilts for family members up until last year when her eyes got "too bad." Lucy said, "quilting kept my hands nimble."

She is a wise and loving woman who is a role model for all of us.

Students 'just say yes' to helping other children

Monterey Heights Elementary's "Just Say No" club is undertaking a holiday project to help kids through difficult times.

According to Pati Swarts, club coordinator, the 100 club members will be putting together "care packages" for children at the Hillcrest Receiving Home.

A county-operated emergency shelter for children who have been abused, abandoned or neglected and have been removed from the family home, the receiving home is a temporary place of refuge, according to Roseann Perrone, Hillcrest activities coordinator.

On average, between 30 to 400 children, ranging from infants to 17-year-olds, pass through the shelter each month for an average of five-day stays, said Perrone.

"We try to help them feel safe and secure - some will be going to foster homes, though we try to place as many as possible back into the family," she said.

She provided the "Just Say No" club with a "wish list" of items needed most.

"Our number-one need is new T-shirts in all sizes," she said, explaining that entertainment items which would lift spirits were also high on her list.

Donated items such as clothing, shoelaces, videos (G and PG ratings only), games, sports equipment, art materials and cosmetics will be arranged into care packages by club members beginning in early December.

Last Thursday, Swarts placed a large box in the school office which was filled the next day with donated clothes.

In early December, club members will be putting together the packages with the donated items.

Swarts noted that this project was intended to "boost self-esteem" giving students a way of helping other kids.

The "Just Say No" club would greatly appreciate donations from local merchants; call the school for more information.

B-Words Personal comments of Councilman Bob Burns

In with the new

I once owned a compact car and found that the mileage was not nearly the 60-miles-to-the-gallon that others claimed for it.

I also marveled at people who never lost money on their trips to Las Vegas, or never "voted wrong" in any election when queried after the fact. My experience was always to the contrary, and I asked, "how come?" The answer, I found out, was, they lie!

I never did cut down a cherry tree, but I guess there is a bit of George Washington in me, and I have to say that I was not totally satisfied with the results of the election. I voted with the majority in about half the choices - I am real happy with some, others cause me some real concern for our country. Without second-guessing or finger-pointing, I feel compelled to indicate them so that I can see how right or wrong my instincts are.

I believe that we all must rally behind our president and work for the betterment of our country without rancor or bitterness. Our democratic system dictates that the majority feeling of our nation is the driving force and all go with the flow cooperatively. We have not only survived changes in our leadership, but have been pleasantly surprised with the results.

I recall feeling devastated, on a street in South Carolina when I heard the news that President Roosevelt had died. "Who is Truman?" I asked. History shows that he was one of our best presidents, and a strong leader.

Without revealing my actual votes, so I won't have to lie about them, I will enumerate my two real concerns for the coming four years, and commit my prayers that the "Truman" syndrome repeats itself.

First, I pray that Saddam, Khaddafi, or some other crazy zealot in the world does not choose to test our new president with aggression or terrorism.

Following the Gulf War, there was an aura of strength in America and the allies of the United Nations. I would hope that there is not a conception that we will not continue that strength or resolve with the new man in the White House. There is still a situation where the Middle Eastern dictators have not fully gotten the message that their reign of terror and dream of world domination is doomed. I do not like the idea that they might have renewed vigor for their causes with our change in leadership.

The second concern is that if we do not have a future of continuous world peace, we may once again be placed in a position of calling our youth up into uniforms and to arms. I sincerely hope that communism is dead and that there will never be another conflict that will involve our youth in a war. But the concept of "war to end all wars" has proven to be a little bit fallacious, so it could happen.

What will my grandsons say if they are assigned a draft number and threatened with, or actually called up to serve in the U.S. military? I certainly do not want anyone to have to undergo what happened to the young people in the years in those past conflicts. But I do fiercely support doing one's part for the country that has been so important in our history. This is a part of the soul of America, and specious rationalization or self-serving rhetoric cannot change it. I pray that such resolve will not be lessened just as strongly as I pray that it will never be again necessary.

The old and the new, young and old, must join together to continue the life that is the United States of America. No matter what complaints anyone has, or protests about conditions, or rebellion against the laws of our land, it is still a basic fact that this is the best place on the face of the earth, and we should appreciate it.

If you have any questions or suggestions for Dr. Burns, send them to P.O. Box BB, Lemon Grove, Ca. 91946

New Member

The Chamber is pleased to welcome the Boll Weevil as our newest member. Tom Wheeler, the new owner and manager, says he has been very pleased with the support our community has shown. After many years in banking, Tom has branched out into the fast-food business, choosing Boll Weevil because of its great hamburgers. Complete with video arcade and pool table, it is a great place to take your family.

Over the holidays, Tom plans to draft his wife of 29 years, Mary Ann, into manning the cash register. With her Ph.D. in education, it shouldn't be too tough a job for her, but will she have time for this in addition to her job as vice principal of National City Middle School?

The Boll Weevil is open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday through Wednesday, and 11 a.m. through midnight Thursday through Saturday. Most of us from the Chamber have already availed ourselves of lunch at least once and there has not been a time when it has not been busy. We wish Tom and Mary Ann continued "busy-ness" and success.

October Luncheon Draws Crowd

Chamber members were rewarded for their terrific attendance at the Community Center, Oct. 22, with an interesting and beneficial presentation on Workers' Compensation by Mark O'Rourke of McDonald's.

Jill Greer, one of our new members did the flyer you received and is already helping Michele with ideas and input for the 1993 Directory.

Country Comfort Catering handled their part of the luncheon with equal skill. The food was plentiful and tasty, and as is the norm for Desi Radney, presented with flair and an eye for color.

Joan Pettis spoke briefly about this year's Adopt-A-Child program. To help her with this effort to provide families with Christmas dinner and toys and clothes for the kids, call Joan at 466-0503 or 589-0191.

The presentation was taped, so anyone wanting to review what Mark said, or those who missed his excellent talk, may contact the Chamber office.

Thanks for Red Ribbon Week Support

This year's Red Ribbon Week, Oct. 24, to Nov. 1, was very successful in raising awareness of the issues and interest in creating a community free of alcohol and other drug-related problems. The support of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce and its member organizations was key to this success.

Those involved in the Red Ribbon Campaign, including the City of Lemon Grove, the Lemon Grove School District, and the Lemon Grove Prevention Project, recognize the contributions of local businesses and other community groups in promoting a healthy community.

A banner above the Lemon proclaimed the goal, "Lemon Grove Drug-Free and Alcohol-Safe." Red Ribbon posters could be seen in nearly every window along the business district. Local employees, students and other community members showed their commitment by wearing the symbolic red ribbon throughout the week.

It is local efforts such as these that have an impact, locally and as part of the national effort to create healthy environments in every neighborhood. Thanks to those whose participation in the 1992 Red Ribbon Campaign helped to make it such a success in Lemon Grove. With such broad community support, the healthy message is sure to continue throughout the year!

Turkey Raffle Tickets, Get'em While They're Hot

At our most recent Board of Director's meeting, it was decided to have a turkey raffle with the drawing to be held at our Sundowner at AAA Copy on Nov. 18. We have tickets available now for $1, with a total of ten (count 'em 10!) turkeys to be raffled off. Contact Michele at the Chamber office, 469-9621, to purchase your tickets and receive a supply to sell to your friends and co-workers.

AAA Copy to Host November Sundowner

AAA COPY will host our November Sundowner on the 18th. Peter Celestino and Jim Butcher plan door prizes and lots of food and drink.

The Chamber will have its usual fishbowl and the drawing for our 10 turkey winners.

The guys are planning lots of food, and would appreciate an RSVP. So, call them at 469-9957 and let them know you'll be there.

(However, whenever we ask for an RSVP and you change your mind about coming, don't let the fact that you didn't RSVP deter you from attending. There are always some who can't make it at the last minute, so come on down - we'll squeeze you in and share our food with you!)

October Sundowner Was a Real Treat

Our October Sundowner was a real Halloween treat. Our host was San Diego Trust & Savings, and Pat Baldwin used her bag of tricks to make this a hoot of an evening. She even arranged for the kids to have a tour of the bank.

Catered by Top Hat Catering, we stuffed ourselves on Nicholas' delicious hors d'oeuvres, set off with bubbling cauldron and other spooky decorations.

Pat had lots of door prizes. A $50 savings bond was won by Karen O'Rourke, and a set of SDT&S embossed glasses went to Jim Dorman. Other door prizes were won by Ernie Pero (again! - what's his secret?), and John Pipes of Weedman's Carpets. The Lakes won, also, but when Michele asked Craig to show her what he won, he said his daughter Rachel made off with it, and Craig was literally left holding only the bag.

Our fishbowl winner (I keep wanting to call it the chamber pot) was Charles Johnson of Bessie's Restaurant. We're hoping that this will provide him with even more incentive to join our membership. Erica Aldrich spoke for a few minutes on Soroptimist International's plans for a fashion show on Nov. 21, and Karen Zaustinsky of the Lemon Grove Prevention Project thanked the chamber for its support of Red Ribbon Week.

Dolly the Clown spent the evening with us helping out with picture-taking and passing out "IYQ" stickers for all of us to wear. You figure out the meaning of "IYQ." It took some of us a minute or two.

It is time to coordinate the Miss Lemon Grove committee. The pageant is Mar. 6, 1993, which is coming upon us soon, so please contact Joan Hosaka at 698-2892 if you would like to participate.

Soroptimist International of Lemon Grove is presenting "A Holiday Sampler on Saturday, Nov. 21. Hors d' oeuvres at 1 p.m. and fashion show at 2 p.m. at the Senior Center, 8235 Mt. Vernon in Lemon Grove. Tickets are $15. Contact Nancy McCadam at 668-4575 for more information.

The 1993 entertainment books are in and available for sale at the Chamber office. The price is $32 for Chamber members, and $38 for non-members. They are disappearing fast, so call Michele at the Chamber office, 469-9621. They make great Christmas gifts!

Reduce Your Health Costs - Join the Great American Smokeout

"Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

- John F. Kennedy

Giving up tobacco is not only good for your health, it's good for your country. With the national health care crisis and the federal deficit at the top of the agenda this election year, consider the following information:

• In 1985, the Office of Technology Assessment (OTA) estimated that cigarette smoking costs the national economy $65 billion annually in health care and lost productivity, including smoking-related absenteeism and disability.

• According to the OTA, annual smoking-related federal expenditures include $4.2 billion in MediCare and MedicAid payments; $400 million by the Department of Veteran Affairs; and $210 million by the Department of Defense.

• In 1985, the California Department of Health Services estimated that cigarette smoking cost Californian tax payers $7.1 billion, including $4.1 billion for direct medical costs; $2.2 billion in lost future earnings due to premature death; and $800 million for lost productivity.

• According to the Department of Health Services, California's taxpayers spent $1.8 billion in smoking-related hospital costs through MediCare, MediCal and aid to the medically indigent.

According to the American Cancer Society, as many as 80 percent of all cigarette smokers already say they would like to quit. Join this year's Great American Smokeout on Thursday, Nov. 19.

This year, the Society is sponsoring "survival stations" throughout San Diego County to provide valuable information, support and encouragement to those who wish to go smoke-free for the day.

Survival stations will distribute free "survival kits," containing tips on how to stay quit, lists of local smoking cessation programs, information on the health effects of tobacco, and various other items, including buttons, stickers, candy, coupons and raffle tickets.

To locate the survival station closest to your company, or for information on other Smokeout activities, call the American Cancer Society at 299-4200.

Save Your Grocery Receipts

Chamber member Jill Greer is requesting that Lemon Grove residents save their Lucky and Ralph's grocery store receipts.

Lemon Grove Middle School, and other community schools, will redeem the receipts for school computers, software, books, gym equipment, and much more.

The receipts can be dropped off at the Chamber or call Jill Greer, Lemon Grove Middle School PTSA president, at 286-7178 to arrange pickup. Thank you in advance for supporting this terrific program!

Grossmont High School District Board news

by June M. Mott, Board Member

With the mean-spirited elections finally over, the Board welcomed its two newest members, Michael Harrelson and Ada Reep, who were in the audience. Both will be sworn in at the Board's Dec. 10 organizational meeting.

Seven items on the agenda were held for discussion; the remaining 46 items were passed in the consolidated motion.

One held item dealt with Board policy revisions, specifically: Article O (Philosophy-Goals-Objectives and Comprehensive Plans); Article 1 (Community Relations); and Article 2 (Administration). Dr. Davies had objected to some of the language in Article O when it was presented for a first reading on Nov. 5; therefore, Dr. Michael Eddy, who has been working with the CSBA representative from Sacramento, agreed to meet with Dr. Davies to make the modifications Davies wanted.

Members of the Board considered the modifications; after extensive discussion, a vote rejected the revisions and Article O and Article 1 were approved as originally presented. An amendment by Dr. Maynard Olson to include "measurable objectives" and "annual" review was accepted. With the new GAMUT program (all school board policies in the state on computer), any policy can be modified anytime, making it unnecessary to wait for a once-a-year revision. Article 2 will be up for an action vote on Nov. 19.

Four temporary teachers were hired for the Mt. Miguel Phoenix contract class and Santana until Jan. 29, 1993. Six more were hired until June 6, 1993. Twenty-two teachers were assigned to teach 31 adult school classes. A nurse instructor at the Health Occupation Center was granted a paid military leave from Nov. 16-20, 1992.

Two classified employees were hired on a regular basis: one will serve as a correctional aide at Las Colinas (a new position) and one as a parent facilitator at the work Training Center. Thirty-three temporary employees (classified and student) were hired for such varied employment as coaching, drug awareness, cafeteria supervision and study hall supervision. Marlene Stark, Food Service Ass't. II, retired after 18 years with the District.

The Board approved a salary package for all certificated management employees (including the superintendent) for items 1 and 3 only). The package included: a .75 percent salary increase retroactive to July 1, 1992 an increase of $23,724; an anniversary increment of $1,075 for those having worked for the District for 19 or more years added to the schedule, costing .24 percent or $7,525; and the payment of increased costs to maintain the present employee benefit plans (costing .25 percent or $7,908).

Approval of a salary package for classified management, supervisory, and confidential staff for '92-'93 was given.

For the 24 classified management, 21 classified supervisors and 6 confidential staff, training programs and workshops will cost $6,500. Cost of the .75 percent salary improvement will total $16,574. Longevity steps on management and supervisory schedules will have 28 and 32-year steps added to the schedule. Currently, no one is at these levels, so only when someone qualifies, will the 2 percent increase kick in.

Three consultants were hired: to conduct assessment and mandated services for special Ed. from Nov. 6 to June 18; to conduct storytelling assemblies for Chapter 1 students at Mt. Miguel; and to provide poetry curriculum for the 9th grade English. Honors Class at Monte Vista High from Nov. 2 to May 30, 1993. Total cost for all three is $2,700.

Some really good news was that substitute teacher usage was 20 percent less than 1991. Teacher absences for illness, personal necessity, and personal leave are 17 percent less than 1991.

The Board approved an agreement with the American Council on Education for renewing the General Educational Development (GED) Testing Contract. This provides for the continuation of the GED Testing Center at Foothills Adult Center and off-site testing at eight of the county detention facilities. Last year 1,534 were tested and 1,028 qualified for a state certificate because of their scores. Estimated cost of operating the GED testing program is $32,000 and does not impact the general fund because it comes out of the Adult Education budget.

Approval of an agreement with the S.D. County Office of Education to participate in the AVID program was given. Currently, nine of our high schools offer AVID classes which enable unrepresented students to increase college readiness, admission, retention, and graduation from four-year higher education institutions. The $80,450 costs come from lottery funds to support the nine-site program.

Excess operating costs for the Gain (Greater Avenues for Independence) programs operated at our two Learning Centers will amount to $40,000 payable to the District for Feb. 1 - June 30, 1993. No impact on the general fund.

Authorization to seek bids to replace band uniforms for Grossmont High School was given. The price for the 100 uniforms exceeds the bid limit so the formal bid process must be used.

The Board accepted with thanks 2 Tritech computers ($808 each) from Valhalla's Future Business Leaders Assoc. to Valhalla and 2 deskwriter printers ($599 each) from Hewlett-Packard Co. to West Hills science department.

Considering the five-point A for Honors Choir, the Board listened to two speakers favoring this credit. I also spoke in favor of this policy. The superintendent recommended that we retain it until July 1, '93 and then phase it out since UC doesn't recognize anything beyond academic care honors units. After considerable discussion, a vote resulted in three members supporting the superintendent's recommendation.

The Board designated, by resolution, that Nov. 19, '92, be known as Tobacco Use Awareness Day.

The next Board meeting is Nov. 19 at 7 p.m. in the Grossmont High School cafeteria Everyone is welcome.

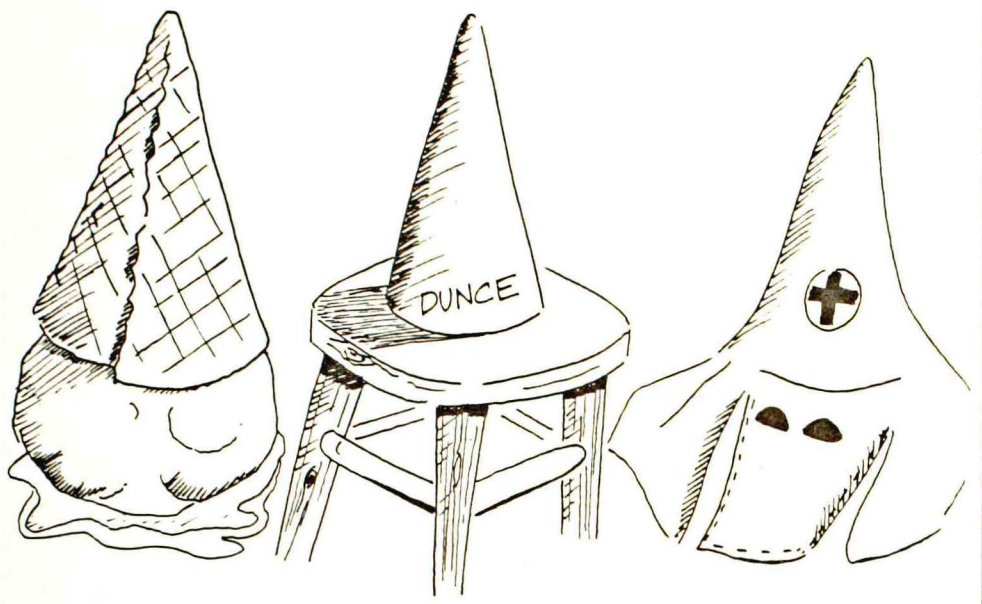
Cones of Sadness



From Where I Sit

Don't mess with the mess sergeant!

by Frank Andrews

I learned the hard way not to volunteer for any duties in the Army. If I was told directly to do something, I would do it - but never again would I just offer my services.

One of the most dreaded duties in my Army Air Corp stretch was pulling K.P. (kitchen police). Your name was put on a roster and you would be called up about once a month before 4 a.m. After a couple of turns at that ordeal, I found out that you could buy a stand-in for $10, so that's what I did. $10 was a lot of money back then, but well worth it.

The mess sergeant was asking around for anyone who had some decorating experience. I figured that working with my father in the painting and decorating business would qualify me for the chore. Truthfully, I was looking for a soft job. I was selected to do the decorating task. It was to cut huge sheet cakes into exact same size squares. I did that tiresome task until my hand and arm gave out.

The next time I volunteered was for our squadron barbecue. I was stationed in Pampa, Texas, at the time and wanted to get away from the base for awhile. The big, burly mess sergeant chose me because of my smokehouse experience working with my dad.

I checked out one of those huge transport army vehicles and had it loaded by the sergeant: a brand new kitchen mop, a new galvanized garbage can, some iron water pipe, and a roll of chicken wire. He explained to me all the details of how to set up for a genuine Texas barbecue. We were off to the back country, about 20 miles from the base.

That was early Saturday morning and the big squadron party was Sunday afternoon, the next day. Our gang had purchased a choice steer from one of the ranchers and we had the local slaughterhouse dress it and cut it up into nice sized roasts. We had all that beautiful choice grade meat packed in ice to keep until we could get the fire started.

Our first chore of the day was to dig a trench about 2 1/2 feet wide and about 30 feet long. The real hard part was the sergeant's orders to dig it at least 3 feet deep. After the strenuous work was done, we gathered mesquite wood from the surrounding area. With the help of some gasoline siphoned from the truck a roaring fire was started.

The iron pipe and chicken wire was strung over the pit. After adding more wood several times the fire left a thick bed of red hot coals. The roast-size steer meat was placed on the wire netting to tend until it was ready to eat come Sunday. In a short time, the meat was mopped with a sauce from the big garbage can that the sergeant had prepared the day before.

Our work was done save for turning and mopping the meat from time to time. My crew made camp a short distance from the pit and it was now party time, as we just couldn't wait for the Sunday festivities to begin.

I knew the different cuts of meats from watching Dad prepare a steer, so I snitched a tenderloin and a sirloin from the fire for our little party. I replaced the roasts with appropriate sized rocks and basted them to match the other meat.

Boy! Did we ever have a midnight snack, washed down with an ice cold malt beverage. The mess sergeant came Sunday in time to dish up the food. Every time he would hit one of the sauce covered rocks a loud clang came from his long fork. My gang was too tired to participate in the squadron activities so we packed up the truck and headed back to the barracks for some sleep.

Woman's Clubs to hold district meeting

The Southern District #26 Board of Directors meeting will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Sweetwater Woman's Clubhouse, 3855 Sweetwater Road, Bonita. Attending will be the clubs from South Bay, Coronado, East County and San Diego area. Registration begins at 9 a.m. with President Michelle McIntyre of Lemon Grove calling the meeting to order at 9:30 a.m.

Program Chairman, Marlene Ketell of Spring Valley will introduce the program, "The Wild Animal Park - Celebrate the Past, Looking Toward the Future." Terri Peterson of the Zoological Society of San Diego, will present a lecture on animal training at the meeting.

Peterson is Speaker's Bureau Coordinator and animal trainer for the Wild Animal Park and will show slides and display small animals from the Park. She states, " A trainer has to stay on top of things and let the animals know who's doing the training. Animals are trained not only for shows, but for behavior modification, health and survival. They are usually trained from infancy resulting in few injuries to the trainers."

Hostess clubs will be the Chula Vista Woman's Club and Imperial Beach Woman's Club. All District members are encouraged to attend.

Women in San Diego County who are interested and would like to involve themselves in community projects, social activities and cultural and educational experiences are invited to come. For further information, call LaVone Blake at 460-9850.

Grief support group

New Day is a grief recovery support group for those who have experienced the loss of a loved one.

This new, daytime meeting begins Nov. 21, noon to 1:30 p.m., at the Lemon Grove Library Community Room, 8073 Broadway. For information and registration, call Dr. Baker, 466-2375.

Letters to the Editor

An Open Letter to the City Council:

Twelve years ago our family moved to Lemon Grove. We were ecstatic to find here, unlike the partisan board we had experienced, a Council working together for the best for Lemon Grove. We watched a Council back the work of Dr. Burns on getting the trolley here, and Lois Heiserman on getting a senior center.

Lemon Grove voters have elected five people who currently make up the City Council - five people who, they believed, were concerned about the welfare and future of this small city, five people who, they believed, were responsible adults.

Several weeks ago (more than I'd care to enumerate), a decision was made by the majority of the Council to name the City Hall for retired Mayor Jim Dorman. Mayor Dorman was our first mayor and continued to be chosen by the Council to be mayor for 15 years, as we began to become a city.

I happen to believe that the decision was a responsible one, to express the city's gratitude for his work and dedication. Yes, others have served as long with as much dedication, but that does not negate Mayor Dorman's contribution to this city.

The outcome of this decision is that one small plaque will be put on City Hall - nothing more, except an overblown, manufactured controversy which has escalated into name-calling, personal attacks, and political threats.

Whatever the reasons, whatever the motivation for this loud, time-consuming, energy-sapping campaign, it would appear that the commitment to work constructively for this city has been eclipsed. I have heard the "reasons" and, no matter what I think of their validity, it seems to me that enough is enough.

To continue to push this issue at the expense of the legitimate business of this city can only end in energy being wasted as people are encouraged to take sides, a high cost of time and money, and many of the city's people being convinced of the juvenile, self-serving agendas of part of our Council.

I congratulate those on the Council who continue to rise above this controversy to keep on acting on city business. I hope they can all hear us ask for a Council of five, not three and two.

Sincerely,
Joan C. Pettis

Response to Legerton's 'Tragedy'

Without resorting to lengthy verbosity, I am compelled to answer Dr. Legerton's declarations. They beg response.

1. Hasty decisions, when wrong can be rectified.

2. The meeting in question was not properly noticed under the Brown Act.

3. There was no urgency at all in the tyranny of the issue.

4. The public hearing had two speakers for, and many against plus a petition of hundreds of signatures in opposition.

5. My apology was "IF I erred in my assumption, then I was sorry," and that would apply to the entire affair.

6. Unlike a broken bone which cannot be undone, a wrong action can be rescinded and made right.

7. Hostile behavior in this instance is simply the product of a frustrated populace who have long been convinced that their voice was unheeded. This recent action has pushed them to the boiling point. They did not strike the spark, but are merely responding to it.

Bob Burns

We the People?

At the last City Council meeting, many citizens expressed their feelings as to the naming of our City Hall to the James V. Dorman Center.

The majority of citizens were against the method that was used and wanted the renaming to be up to the citizens of Lemon Grove. Mayor Cochran more or less stated that it's a done deal. A vote was taken by the council on this issue and once again, their position did not change, Cochran, Legerton and Heiserman voted for it and council members Burns and Lake against it.

The people have spoken, but some of the council were not listening or did not care to listen. Who do these council persons represent? Not the citizens of Lemon Grove.

The only recourse We the People have is to speak out at election time. These immature and super-ego council persons must be removed if our city is to progress. What has changed in the past months that makes this council so ineffective and uncaring to its citizens? Just look back to this past June for the answer.

I hope this council does not make any more hasty decisions before a dinner party.

Gilmore Terrace dedicated

The Navy brass was out in force at the Monday dedication of the new Navy housing complex which lies just north of Lemon Grove. In his remarks, Rear Admiral Francis K. Holian stated that the 244-unit, $28 million project, named the Howard Gilmore Terrace, is an example of the Navy's new "neighborhoods of excellence" program.

Commander Howard Gilmore died saving the submarine USS Growler during WWII. The Growler was hit while surfaced, with two of its crew members killed and Gilmore wounded. His last two orders to his crew were, "Clear the deck," and then, "Take her down."

Gilmore, who remained on deck, did not want to risk losing the ship or further endangering the crew. He perished at sea, but the sub escaped. For his heroism, Gilmore was posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.
